FATAL TRAIN COLLISION.

Two cars of the Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis Electric Railway Company, while running at high speed, collided near Camp Parole, two miles from Annapolis, about 8 o'clock last night, and were completely wrecked, the accident causing the death of eight persons—six men, one woman and a child. The motorman of one of the cars was among the victims.

The child was the three-year-old daughter of William E. Slaughter, general manager of the road. A particular element of tragedy was given to the affair by the fact that the woman and two of the men were evidently on their way to attend the June ball at the Naval Academy, and they were dreading, lying dead on the track dressed in the attire of the ballroom, a sad suggestion of the light and dark in human life; one in stark and full of happy anticipation of an evening of dancing and joyousness, the next brought face to face with reality, their pitiful bodies and bloodstained faces to be gazed at with compassion or curiosity, according to the nature of those who composed the crowd which quickly assembled.

The responsibility for the accident has not been definitely determined, but it was, it was stated, a confusion in the orders as to where the cars should pass. The cars were both specials, the one coming from Baltimore and the other from Annapolis, which left at 7:45. The accident occurred about 7:50. It is said that the train had been issued for the Baltimore car to wait at the station, three miles from Annapolis, where there is a long siding, but in some way the order was not received or understood, and the car continued towards Annapolis.

Just as a curve had been rounded, in which the trees obscure the view, the two cars dashed together, and in a moment were lying on their sides, the life dashed out of eight of the passengers of the two cars and both cars hopelessly wrecked.

A man who witnessed the collision says the cars approached each other at a high rate of speed, but that the motorman, or one of them, undoubtedly tried to check his car, as the witness heard the noise of the brake tightening.

The cars then came together with a terrific crash, and so soon after the curve had been rounded that it is probable that none of the passengers knew of their danger until the cars came together. Both cars were turned over on their sides and a number of the passengers were caught underneath, but, fortunately, none of the injured was so held that there was any difficulty in releasing them.

The news was quickly telephoned to Annapolis and a relief car was promptly run out.

For a Sprained Ankle.

As usually treated, a sprained ankle will disable the injured person for a month or more, but by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and observing the directions with each bottle faithfully, a cure may be effected in many cases in less than one week's time. This liniment is a most remarkable preparation. Try it for a sprain or bruise, or when laid up with chronic or muscular rheumatism, and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which it affords. For sale by W. F. Creighton and Co. and Richard Gibson.

CARDINAL LOGUE'S WARNING.

On the eve of his departure for Europe, which he made from New York on the Cunard liner Campania today, Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, issued a farewell statement last night to the American people.

The cardinal expressed his gratitude to the American people for the cordial reception they had given him, recorded a realization of his high conception of the American republic's mission, and expressed his conviction that this country is assured of a glorious future, if it but be true to the ideals of the republic's founders.

The cardinal, however, saw dangers ahead. His note of warning was against the misuse of prosperity and power. He alluded to his visit to Mount Vernon, and the perfect air of simplicity that he found marking the homestead and the tomb of Washington and added:

"If I may be allowed to draw a lesson from Mount Vernon I should like to say to the American people that the alarming increase in the number of divorces in the United States is a great and crying evil, full of danger. The greatness of any country must be measured by the strength and purity of the home divorce disrupts the home and desecrates its sanctity."

"I feel that the American people appreciate the beneficent influence of the Catholic Church in its fight for the home, in which the first lessons of respect for authority and the necessity of obedience must be learned; and these lessons cannot be instilled into the mind of the child if the home be not what it ought to be."
